

The analysis of the WeRateDog twitter account revealed interesting insights. First of all, twitter users at more than 90% use their phone to send tweet, retweet or rate the dog's images. As shown in this histogram

Another interesting point is that the most popular dog stage is the pupper with more than 250 dogs, the second one id doggo, and then puppo, and the least popular is floofer.

The analysis also revealed that not all the tweets were popular, some of them were more than others, but the more likes a tweet has the more retweeted it was. We can notice a strong correlation between the 2 variables.
